Diligent Entities

Fueling Strategic Growth Through Modern Governance

As the speed of business accelerates and data continues to develop and grow more rapidly than ever before, organizations require technology that can surface the right legal entity information to the right person, precisely at the moment it's needed to inform strategic growth opportunities.

Drive actionable insights

Regulatory requirements, greater scrutiny and expectations mean that entity information needs to be easy to surface and analyze helping leaders ask better questions and make good decisions. It is no longer enough simply to store entity information without a quick and easy way to retrieve it.

Businesses can gain a competitive advantage by being able to quickly spot and respond to opportunities ahead of their competition.

More efficiently handle entity information

Entity management across multiple jurisdictions not only requires a comprehensive database to manage company details, status, relationships as well as officers or directors, their appointments on boards and committees and powers of attorney. It also needs to combine and surface the information as required. Features that automatically create share certificates, build structure char and reports will help save time and customizable workflows improve the data validation process to better ensure compliance and mitigate the risk of the unknown.

Elevate entity management to entity governance

Diligent Entities caters to organizations' evolving governance needs from facilitating more efficient compliance processes to customizing workflows and integrations for cross-departmental collaboration and information sharing with the board and other stakeholders. With crucial entity governance needs met, organizations are in an advantageous position to seize the most valuable strategic growth opportunities.

Integration for a central source of truth

Create custom views for Legal, HR, Tax and Finance departments with custom fields, reports, charting or documentation folders and integration with third-party systems means Diligent Entities can provide a single corporate memory. This helps your business identify and respond to opportunities or risks more quickly.

Visualize the corporate structure

Charting is included with every instance of Diligent Entities, but the Designer Edition allows for greater formatting and export options and custom views for different users.

Filing quickly and easily

Carry out e-filing in a wide variety of jurisdictions with automatic form creation and notifications for when this needs to be done.

Easy, flexible reporting

Automated, accurate reports are essential to monitor compliance. Ready-made templates, scheduling options and our new Quick Reports solution makes this simpler to manage vast amounts of data.

Maintaining data integrity

Accurate data is essential to good reporting. Custom workflows with an automated and documented verification process for your data will ensure entity data is reviewed and updated appropriately. Notifications and reminders progress the review until completion.

With the right entity management system in place, businesses can demonstrate good governance, improve operational efficiency, ensure compliance and mitigate risk effectively. Transform your legal and compliance to a proactive function within your organization.
